Vol. 107, No. 712

CONTENTS

- 355 Pakistan: The Critical Battleground ..... Bruce Riedel
Both a victim and a sponsor of terrorism, Pakistan presents perhaps the single most important foreign policy challenge now facing the United States.
- 362 Pakistans Perilous Voyage ..... Farzana Shaikh
Shaken by personal rivalries, party realignments, and spreading Islamist violence, Pakistani politics may have reached a dangerous tipping point.
- 369 India Held Back ..... Sumit Ganguly
Yes, India is rising. But it cannot become a global power unless it comes to terms with its endemic poverty, fractious politics, assorted insurgencies, and tensions with Pakistan.
- 375 Asia's Democracy Backlash ..... Joshua Kurlantzick
South Asia and Southeast Asia at the turn of the millennium were riding a wave of democratization. Lately, authoritarianism has staged a comeback.
- 381 People Power Sours: Uncivil Society in Thailand and the Philippines ..... Mark R. Thompson
What happens when middle class protesters, in the name of "good governance," aim to overthrow democratically elected leaders?
- 388 Indonesia's Reform Era Faces a Test ..... Grog Fealy
Ten years after the fall of Suharto, Indonesia has the strongest democracy in Southeast Asia. But the country's reformist president is not assured of reelection next year.

PERSPECTIVE

- 393 A New Strategy on Myanmar ..... Morton Abramowitz and Jonathan Kolieb
International indignation and efforts to isolate the brutal junta have not helped the very people whom outsiders want to aid—Myanmar's long-suffering citizens.

BOOKS

- 395 Heroes Entwined: Gandhi and Churchill ..... Sumit Ganguly
A new book explores intersections of the two historic figures' heroic careers. Apparently the British leader and the Indian nationalist shared some intriguing characteristics.

THE MONTH IN REVIEW

- 398 September 2008
An international chronology of events in September, country by country, day by day.
